

Style Derivation

SUIT STYLES ORIGINATE IN CLOTHING FACTORIES.

This is the "reason why": Ready-made clothing, even of the cheapest quality, always depicts the prevalent style. Our stock contains none but LATE STYLE SUITS.

ANOTHER STEAMSHIP LINE

The Los Angeles Times prints the following: "Another steamship line, and one of the largest in the world, will be working directly from San Pedro and Los Angeles, and a battle royal between the transcontinental railroads and this company will be waged for the control of the freight traffic between the East and West when the contract between the Hawaiian-American Steamship Company and the Tehuantepec National Railway goes into effect on July 1st of this year. "At the present time this company operates these steamships between New York, San Francisco, Honolulu and back to New York, the steamers passing from the Atlantic to the Pacific by way of the straits. The big liners all have a speed of twelve and one-half knots an hour, and make the 14,000-mile voyage between New York and San Francisco in an average of sixty days.

"When the Tehuantepec National Railway and the freight liners begin to work together, however, the distance will be cut to about 5,000 miles, and the time from New York to Los Angeles will be twenty-five days, or about the length of time required to ship heavy freight by rail between the metropolises of the East and the Southwest. "The American-Hawaiian line has entered into a contract with the railroad by which the steamship company will operate some of their vessels between New York and Coahuila, and the other ships of the company between Salina Cruz and the Pacific Coast ports and the Hawaiian Islands. This contract becomes effective July 1, 1906.
